

HARDING TO DEFER ACTION ON WORLD'S DISARMAMENT

ADVOCATES OF PLAN WIN BUT SLIGHT VICTORY

Borah Rider "Authorizes and Requests" Call By President.

HARDING WILL WAIT Time For Conference Not Ripe Is Chief Executive's Belief.

Washington, May 26.—While the advocates of disarmament seemingly won an overwhelming victory in the unanimous adoption by the senate of Borah amendment to the naval bill, it became apparent today that their victory will be a hollow one for the present at least.

The Borah rider "authorizes and requests" the president to call a conference of British, Japanese and American Representatives to work out plans for a "naval holiday" under which each country would reduce its fleet to a specified number of ships for the next five years. President Harding has no intention of taking any immediate action in this respect. Although committed to the principle of disarmament the president is said to feel that the present is not a proper time for the initiation of such steps and the matter probably will be pigeon holed until semblance of peace and order prevails in the unsettled world.

Time Is Not Ripe.

Just now all of continental Europe is bickering and quarrelling, there are evidences of restiveness in the far east, and the United States has "issued" a pending state with nearly all the leading powers of the world.

The Borah amendment, also, has yet to pass the house, although little opposition to it is anticipated in view of the unanimity with which the senate adopted it.

President Harding has on more than one occasion informed congressional leaders that he "did not want his hand forced" in disarmament matters, particularly at this critical time in world affairs.

This opposition to congressional action, however, was suddenly withdrawn in the face of Senator's Borah's insistence upon his amendment. Administration leaders decided the easier course would be to adopt the amendment preventing a long and bitter fight and then proceed to hold it in abeyance until the occasion is deemed more propitious for action.

There is ample precedent for such action on the part of the White House, it was pointed out today. President Wilson held the same power that the State has voted President's Harding for four years without taking any action, and he had the same time and appropriation of $100,000 to defray the expenses of such a conference.

CHARGES OF WASTE STRONGLY DENIED

Washington, May 26.—Recent charges by labor organizations that railroad managers of the United States were not alert in their efforts to prevent wasteful practices and installing economical methods of operation were denied flatly today by H. E. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company, testifying before the senate interstate commerce committee which is conducting an investigation of the nation's transportation problem.

Byram praised the work being done by the "rank and file" of railway workers and declared that he "regretted that the attitude of some of those who speak for these employees does not tend to promote good service."

HOLD UP PROBE OF GARMENT STRIKE

Washington, May 26.—The senate labor and education committee decided today to hold in abeyance the proposed senatorial investigation of the garment workers strike in New York City and elsewhere. It is understood that a settlement of the labor difficulties between the garment manufacturers and their striking employees is now approaching a satisfactory solution, Senator Kenyon, Iowa, the committee chairman, said. It was decided therefore to hold up the Borah-Moses resolutions calling for a probe by the committee of the garment manufacturing situation.

STATE TO CENSOR MOVIES

Boston, Mass., May 26.—Movies in Massachusetts will be under state censorship hereafter. Governor Cox having signed a bill with that provision today. Supervision will be exercised by the department of public safety. Exhibition of any film not formally passed is prohibited.

New Jersey Attorney May Be Solicitor-General.

James M. Beck, prominent New Jersey attorney, who was recently recommended as Solicitor-General by Attorney General Daugherty. According to reports from Washington Mr. Beck had for some time been mentioned as probable Under-Secretary of State. It is a foregone conclusion that he will be confirmed for the post, in which case he will take office during the first days of July.

Mr. Beck conferred with President Harding in an advisory capacity during the campaign. From 1900 to 1903 he served as Assistant Attorney General. He has argued many important cases before the United States Supreme Court, including the famous Danbury hatter's case. His duties as Solicitor General will make him the representative of the Government before the Supreme Court.

LACK OF QUORUM TO HALT ACTION ON LEGISLATION

Deadlock Between House and Senate Still Continues.

Columbus, O., May 26.—Prediction was made in legislative circles today that absence of a quorum will prevent the house from acting upon additional legislation when the senate reconvenes here tomorrow, following its "five minute recess" which began on April 29.

It is understood that the representation in the house will be limited to speaker Beetham, house floor leader Grabbe and members of the house enrollment committee. Their presence, it was said, would be to permit the speaker to sign bills sent over from the senate and to provide for such action as might be necessary in disposing of minor matters.

The deadlock, apparently, continues, the house leaders insisting upon sine die adjournment and the senate leaders holding out for a recess.

TRIAL OF ALLEGED GAMBLERS WILL START NEXT MONTH

Chicago, May 26.—Trial of the ball players and alleged gamblers indicted in the 1919 world's series scandal will start sometime next month, Assistant State Attorney George Gorman announced today. Word from New York that arguments in the case of Abe Attell who is resisting extradition to Illinois, has been postponed because of Attell's connection with another case, will not delay the trial here Gorman said.

INVESTIGATION INTO MINGO TROUBLE

Washington, May 26.—A senatorial investigation of the Mingo County, W. Va., disorders was agreed upon today by the senate labor and education committee.

Neil Burkinshaw, a Washington attorney, appearing as counsel for the miners unions said the miners were prepared to produce fifty witnesses to prove charges that they had been subjected to oppressive measures by the operators.

"Get your witnesses ready and our sub-committee may be at Williams next week to hear them," said Kenyon.

"And we trust you will stop the shootings by the time we get there," interposed Senator Phlips, Republican, Colorado, amidst laughter.

VIOLATIONS OF LIQUOR RULING ARE INCREASING

Operations On Wider Scale Follow Dropping of Agents.

LAW POWERLESS "Dry" Organization Greatly Weakened By Fewer Numbers.

Washington, May 26.—Liquor lawlessness upon a wider scale, especially among bootleggers, has followed the dropping of 700 "dry" law enforcement agents, according to reports today to the prohibition unit of the treasury.

Reports from those areas of the country which still are listed as very "wet" by treasury officials show that illicit venders of whiskey are obtaining larger fresh supplies from manufacturers of illicit whiskey.

From the rural districts, particularly, the mountainous sections of officials were advised that new operations have been begun by makers of "moonshine" whiskey.

In the face of these reports the government's "dry" law force is very powerless, as there only remains what amounts to merely an office enforcement organization.

Hopes for action Prohibition Commissioner Kramer today still hoped for action by the senate appropriating the needed $200,000 already approved by the house, early enough to rebuild the organization to its former strength. The fear of prohibition officials is that with the governments vigilance relaxed, illicit makers and sellers of whiskey will be able to obtain surplus stocks to carry them along for many months, even after the new appropriations for enforcement work become available July 1.

Among the reports reaching headquarters here today, were some from unofficial vigilance committees, stating that corn whiskey of a good grade is finding its way into larger cities from country districts and is being eagerly bought up by bootleggers.

The inevitable increase in smuggled whiskey, predicted by treasury officials is also in evidence. Imported whiskey in larger quantities is finding its way across the Canadian border and is being delivered as far south as the Ohio river.

Violent Outbreak In Dublin Subsides; Many Are Killed

WIRELESS AND AIRPLANE WIN

Norfolk, Va., May 26.—Wireless telegraph and the airplane saved the life of W. B. Midgett, an engineer on a coast guard lifeboat at Montee, N. C. after he had been overcome by gasoline fumes. There was no physician at Montee so a wireless message was sent out asking for a navy surgeon. Lieut. C. L. Haynes of the Hampton Roads naval base volunteered and made the trip to Montee by airplane in two hours, reaching there just in time. Midgett was reported on the road to recovery today.

BRIAND WILL GET VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Paris, May 26.—There was every indication that the Briand government would receive a vote of confidence before night when the chamber of deputies convened this afternoon. Not only has the tension in parliamentary circles eased but the whole international situation has cleared since premier Briand's speech of Tuesday.

Consented efforts are now being made to curb violence in Upper Silesia the chief trouble spot of Europe at the present moment. Germany has promised to take energetic steps to prevent German volunteers from taking any further military action against the Poles while the allies are bringing direct pressure upon Poland to curb the Polish rebels in Silesia.

NEW LOW RECORD IN EXPENSES SET

Columbus, May 26.—A new low record was set up when State Auditor Tracy received the cost bill, $15.84, representing the expenses incurred by the state in punishing former Marion county treasurer Harry C. Forry, now in the state penitentiary. Forry confessed that he embezzled thousands of dollars of Marion county funds.

Most of the expense of the state, representing payment for railroad tickets for Forry and the Marion county sheriff from Marion to Columbus.

GERMANS PROTECT BRIDGES AGAINST POLES

German railroad employees, armed with rifles, inspecting the rails on the bridge connecting Oppeln, Germany, with Szeponowitsch, Upper Silesia. The Polish insurgents, according to reports have several times attempted to destroy the railroads and bridges connecting Upper Silesia and Germany proper.

TENTATIVE PLANS FOR TAXATION AMENDMENT BY VOTE MADE

Representatives of Ohio Real Estate Men, Banks, Grange, Manufacturers and Property Owners Lay Plans In Conference at Columbus.

Columbus, O., May 26.—Although definite action was postponed until it is determined whether the state legislature will adopt a taxation resolution, preliminary plans have been made for initiating a proposed taxation amendment to the state constitution to be voted on at the November election.

These preliminary plans were made at a conference here of representatives of Ohio real estate boards, building and loan associations, the Ohio Mortgage Association, Ohio State Grange, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, Ohio Investment Bankers Association, Ohio Board of Builders Exchanges and the Ohio Building Owners Association.

The conferees also may decide upon by H. H. Hampton, Cleveland.

At the meeting to be held after the legislature adjourns, in the event that the legislature does not adopt a taxation resolution, members of chambers of commerce throughout the state, also, will be present.

The conferees also may decide upon initiating a debt limitation amendment to the state constitution, if the senate fails to adopt the resolution, which went through the house, providing for such an amendment.

CONTRACTS FOR STADIUM TO BE AWARDED SOON

Columbus, O., May 26.—Specifications will be mailed today to contractors for cost estimates preparatory to awarding contracts in about a month for construction of the stadium at Ohio State University.

Acting upon recommendations made by Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of the university and C. F. Kettering, Dayton, trustee, the board of trustees of Ohio State University approved the original plans for the stadium.

PAYMENT TO START EARLY NEXT YEAR

Washington, May 26.—The United States does not expect payments of interest on the allied debts to begin earlier than the first of next year, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon stated today, although he made it plain that the funding policy with regard to the allied debt is not yet definitely settled. The secretary denied flatly published reports that the government will guarantee British, French and Italian and Belgian bonds to be sold to American investors, the proceeds of which would go to the government and which would be used to pay off liberty bond issues.

FARMER KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Cincinnati, O., May 26.—Clay D. McFarland, 38, Howard's Hollow farmer was struck by lightning and killed while plowing yesterday. A horse of his team was also killed but the other animal escaped injury. McFarland had just called to his wife, who was watching him, that he was on his "last row" when struck over the heart by the lightning.

STRAWBERRIES AT 10c.

New York, May 26.—The arrival of nearly 10 carloads of strawberries from the south glutted the New York market today and the price dropped to 10 cents a quart wholesale. Berries of the finest quality however sold at 18 and 20 cents a quart. The first blackberries of the season have just arrived from North Carolina.

AMBULANCE IN COLLISION

Dayton, O., May 26.—Edward King went to the hospital after his auto crashed into an ambulance making a hurry run to the institution.

BRITISH WILL DISPATCH TROOPS TO UPPER SILESIA

FRIENDS TO TRADE WIVES IN COURT

Anderson, Ind., May 26.—Wm. Muncey and Gordon Huffman, warm friends and fellow laborers in the same factory, are about to trade wives. And its all right with Mrs. Muncey and Mrs. Huffman.

The discovery that Huffman loved Mrs. Muncey and Huffman loved Mrs. Huffman and vice versa on both sides led to a visit to Judge Kittinger. The problem was how the "swap" could be arranged. Judge Kittinger suggested twin divorce bills.

Two divorce bills charging abandonment and bigamy are now pending in court. A double wedding is expected later.

SOLDIERS WILL BE WITHDRAWN FROM GERMANY

Two Troop Trains Will Leave Cologne Area Every Day

WITH IN LINE

Favors "Open Diplomacy" Policy Established By Lloyd George

Berlin, May 26.—The dispatch of four British battalions, 2,400 soldiers, from the Rhineland to Upper Silesia will begin tomorrow, said a dispatch from Cologne today.

Beginning tomorrow two troop trains will leave the Cologne area daily carrying British troops to Oppeln. The transport of troops will continue until June 1.

According to the Morgen Post the French troops in Upper Silesia have evacuated Myslowitz and the Polish insurgents have occupied the city.

"I share Premier Briand's wish that justice may prevail in a settlement of the Upper Silesian trouble," said Chancellor Wirth in an interview replying to the speech of Premier Briand in the French chamber of deputies on Tuesday.

The interview was printed today in the newspaper Deutsch Allgemeine Zeitung.

Adopts Policy.

Chancellor Wirth thus becomes the third cabinet head in Europe to adopt the policy of "open diplomacy" established by Premier Lloyd George of England when he began to hurl public warnings at European powers concerning Upper Silesia.

"I gladly recognize Premier Briand's moderate tone, but it is necessary to correct some of the French premier's statements of fact," continued Chancellor Wirth. "M. Briand declared that Germany 'came to own Silesia 600 years ago. It is the truth that Poland conquered Silesia in war 600 years ago. But later a Polish archduke peacefully renounced all rights to Silesia. Historically Poland has no claim to Silesia. Secondly there was the pebesic in which Poland was defeated. Thirdly, and morally Poland can make no claims upon Silesia because she attempted violence when she could not secure the territory peacefully. Fourthly, and industrially Poland has no claim because the Germans developed the industries of Silesia. The Poles lack technical experts and cannot maintain the industries without German help."

The interview was given out before Chancellor Wirth left Berlin for Bavaria to consult the Bavarian ministry upon disarmament. It is reported from Munich that the chancellor's trip has had the desired result and that the Bavarian cabinet has decided to dissolve the einwohnerwehr (security police) at once.

PEACE LEGISLATION WILL BE TAKEN UP

Washington, May 26.—Peace legislation will be taken up tomorrow by the house foreign affairs committee.

Chairman Porter of the committee stated today that a peace resolution will be taken up next week and its passage without delay is expected.

The resolution will differ in many respects from the Knox resolution, but it is probable that the senate will not accept the house resolution but will insist on a conference to adjust conflicting views. This will delay final action a short time but the resolution is expected to reach the president for his approval within two weeks.

HENRY CLEWS

Weekly Financial Review

Announcement of the conditions of the first installment of the German reparations payments in the form of a transfer of 150,000 marks in gold or foreign currency gives evidence that the process of settling the obligation to the Allies is at length about to begin. The news has undoubtedly been received with great favor in all financial circles, both here and abroad, and preparation is being made for the furtherance of undertakings which had previously had to submit to delay. Gradual loss of ground by the British miners in their effort to hold up the English industry foreshadows the failure of the coal strike in that country and a similar situation in the marine strike at this port evidently looks to comparatively early restoration of peace with corresponding benefits to foreign trade.

A Better Railroad Outlook
Although railroad managers have been offering some pessimistic testimony before the Senate Interstate Commerce at Washington, the income returns of the railroads have on the whole become better. Announcement that the Railroad Labor Board in Chicago will definitely order a wage cut for railroad workers of all classes, probably effective July 1, should assist the carriers in still further restoring an income balance and should at least open the way to a better financial prospect. Whether cuts in rates can be promptly adopted as has been urged in many quarters is another question whose answer will probably depend in no small measure upon the income position of the carriers as affected by the wage reduction now determined upon.

Favorable Forecasts
The Secretary of the Treasury and other financial authorities have during the past week made unwontedly favorable forecasts, predicting the development of cheaper money conditions, better industrial demand, larger foreign trade and more stable exchange. The Federal Reserve system has now through the action of other reserve banks practically put its rates on a 6-1-2 per cent basis throughout, while the tendency of foreign exchange has been steadily toward higher levels in the case of nearly all European currencies. Although the cost of money has not come down so far as market rates are concerned the accumulation of gold continues and the Federal Reserve system has reached the highest level of strength for a long time past, its reserve ratio on May 18 being 56.8 per cent and its gold holdings, $2,379,000,000 a gain of $438,000,000 over a year ago.

Slight further decline in prices for the month of April has been announced by various price reporting agencies during the past week but their figures do not add materially to what had already been made known at the opening of this month by those who then made public their preliminary forecasts. There is still a tendency to "even up" or "readjust" prices with a view to bringing about a somewhat more fairly balanced structure than that which now exists. This process has necessarily caused some lowering of values in lines which had resisted changes; nevertheless it is clear that the downward price movement is about reaching its limit so far as the rank and file of wholesale commodities are concerned. Influential retailers in a conference with Secretary Hoover, have undertaken so far as they can to further the readjustment of retail prices both with respect to one another and also in relation to wholesale values.

Taxation and Tariff Reform
Discussion in Congress with reference to the question of tax reform has evidently developed some considerable differences of opinion among the various elements in the business community. The preponderating opinion has of course been in favor of the repeal of existing tax legislation, but there has been little unanimity as to what should be substituted in place of it. Sales tax advocates have had to encounter considerable opposition. It now seems probable that the action to be taken by Congress will practically have to be determined by the Administration, which will evidently be called upon to lay down a positive programme intended to cover the legislation to be adopted. Secretary Mellon's outline sent to Congress some ten days ago has thus far not been acted upon. Request from the President that it should be followed would doubtless insure acceptance of it.

Market Review and Outlook
The passing of the Republic Steel dividend is only another evidence of the slackness in trade which is not confined entirely to the steel and iron branch. The failure of the directors to declare a dividend has been without particular marked effect upon the general market for the reason that such action was anticipated. Unfortunately some other companies are adopting a similar policy while still others are under suspicion and this naturally acts as a damper on the market. The reason that owners of stocks do not take the situation more seriously is, of course, due to the belief that the turning point in

DEWINE MILLING COMPANY PURCHASES ENTIRE INTERESTS OF BELDEN FIRM

The DeWine Milling Company, with headquarters in this city, and mills in Old Town and Goes, has purchased the elevator and entire interests of the Belden Milling Company, in this city, according to an announcement made, Wednesday afternoon, by John DeWine, president of the purchasing company, and Dilver Belden, manager of the Belden Milling Company.

Possession will be given the new owners on Monday, June 20, and until that time, the mill here will be operated under its former ownership. After the property changes hands, Dilver Belden, who is an experienced mill and grain man, will continue in the employ of the DeWine Co., as manager of the Xenia mill. The new owners announced Thursday that they would continue the business in about the same manner as it has been operated in the past, with an aim to specialize in producing a high grade flour in the Xenia plant. All kinds of high grade feeds, seeds, coal salt and cement will also be carried and the company will buy grain and wool and operate a flour and feed exchange, as well as continuing to make the same brands of flour and feeds at the Xenia mill.

The DeWine Company now owns mills in Xenia, Old Town and Goes and the company removed its general offices from Yellow Springs to the Messenger building, Detroit and Second streets, this city, the first of the year, in order to be in closer touch with the mills and nearer better railroad facilities.

Officials of the company said Thursday that the acquisition of the Belden interests, gives the DeWine Company a complete organization as well as a complete line. The main office here will be continued as a clearing house for the flour mill, grain elevator and coal yard in this city, the stock feed mill and elevator at Old Town, and the poultry feed mill and elevator at Goes, and feed store and warehouse at Yellow Springs.

WASHINGTON C. H. AND LONDON IN SAME FINANCIAL BOAT

Washington, C. H. May 26.—Washington C. H. and London appear to be trotting in the same class these days so far as finances are concerned.

On May 10, Washington's city council passed a resolution providing for the issue of $34,000 of bonds for the purpose of funding deficiencies in the operating revenues of the city for the year 1921; and upon the same date passed an ordinance providing for the issue of bonds in the amount of $15,- 500 for the purpose of raising funds to pay the city's share of the cost of improving High Oak, Temple, Water and Cherry streets and Dayton Ave. In addition, the council, upon the same date passed an ordinance to issue $11,000 of bonds for the purpose of constructing sewers, ditches and drains in the city.

OFFER PRIZE TO CHILD BOY OR GIRL WHO ENROLLS LARGEST NUMBER IN CAMPAIGN

In order to promote the enrollment of farmers in the Pure Bred Sire Campaign, which the Department of Agriculture at Washington and the College of Agriculture of the Ohio State University are waging through the County Farm Bureau, a one hundred dollar grand prize is being offered by the students and faculty of the Ohio State University to the boy or girl in Ohio who enrolls the greatest number of users of pure bred sires in any county.

The following are the conditions of the contest:
First, competition is to be between counties.
Second, the period of competition is the month of June.
Third, the persons representing each county must be boys and girls not over eighteen years old.
Fourth, each boy or girl participating in the contest represents a county, and his or her work will be to secure the enrollment of as many persons as possible in that county in behalf of pure bred sires.
Fifth, each person enrolled must fill out and have properly signed the blank form for this purpose, which will be supplied by the County Agent, or by the Department of Animal Husbandry, the Ohio State University, Columbus, in case there is no Agricultural Agent in the County.

Sixth, all filled out enrollment sheets are to be turned over to the County Agricultural Agent, or in case of there being no such agent, are to be mailed to the Department of Animal Husbandry at the Ohio State University. PRACTISING COMMON WORDS
Perhaps the two most important things to remember in cultivating the voice are persistence and patience. Spasmodic efforts are of little use in this as in any other treatment for self improvement.

In the matter of the voice, practice—which is another way of saying persistence—is most important of all. When you have listened for vocal flaws, and while you are taking exercises to overcome these faults. For instance, take a list of the words you use most.

'Yes', 'no', 'the', 'and', are four words that come in again and again in almost every sentence you utter. And they are among the most abused words in our language. Do you by any chance say 'yeah' for 'yes' Or do you happen to pronounce 'no' as though it were 'naw'? Written out so, it looks like a glaring fault which anyone would resent if accused of it. But if you will listen, you will find that the very nicest people have slipped into it.

"And" is particularly abused. It is often slurred into "an" or worse yet, deprived of even its first letter and pronounced simply "n"—a single letter slid between two words of a hostily spoken sentence. "The" is not so badly slurred. "And" suffers more than any other words, unless it happens to be 'yes'.

These are small points but they make such a difference in one's manner they add or detract so from the good impression one always wants to make so that they are well worth paying attention to.

J. E. M.—Lemon juice and baking powder will do to keep your daughter's hair light. Two table-spoonsful of the juice, one third of a teaspoonful of soda to a quart of water, used as the final rinse after the shampoo. Hot crude oil massaged into the scalp the night before the shampoo will correct this dry condition which is causing those flakes through the hair.

Irene—You should consult some other doctor who will give you the proper interest in your case. A condition such as yours, can sometimes be traced to extreme nervousness, though it looked as if it was a case of eczema. External treatment can only relieve it.

P. E. G.—Growth of hair did not come from using peroxide. There is no objection to using lemon juice and ammonia together, if it is not too irritating to the skin.

Rosie—Hot water opens the pores, cold water closes them. If you use the former be sure to dash cold water over your face and neck to close the pores again. Wrinkles do not come from either.

A winning personality comes through a desire to help others. It is acquired through the practice of this loving art.

A dark tailored suit is splendid for not only the remainder of the Spring, but for all Summer and far into next Fall. With a self colored waist, it makes a complete costume, and with fresh white waists it offers as much variety as several dresses. It saves the cost of a long coat, if expense must be figured in; and with fresh gloves and a smart simple hat, it gives a good looking outfit that will be suitable anywhere. It is much better to put most of one's allowance in a good suit, than in several cheap dresses.

es, cold water closes them. If you use the former be sure to dash cold water over your face and neck to close the pores again. Wrinkles do not come from either.

WHAT THE STATES HAVE DONE FOR SOLDIERS AND THE DEMANDS ON CONGRESS.

From the New York World.

In the campaign to induce Congress to provide bonuses for the soldiers and sailors who saw service in the war, little is heard in Washington or elsewhere of what the various States have already done. Complaint is made that the men have not received their deserts, and that in amends for its neglect the Federal Government should come to their aid liberally.

Twenty States have already authorized bond issues for soldiers' bonuses, and over $36,000,000 has been marketed. At the top of the list is Illinois, which has authorized $55,000,000. Then follows New York with 45 million dollars, Pennsylvania with 35 million dollars, Michigan with 30 million dollars, Ohio and Kansas with 25 million dollars each, Iowa with 22 million dollars, Wisconsin and Minnesota with 20 million dollars each, California with 18 million dollars, New Jersey with 17 million dollars and Washington with 15 million dollars. Altogether about $370,000,000 has been authorized.

It is a method that lacks uniformity, since the bases on which bonuses are to be reckoned will differ among separate States, and some may fail altogether to grant the payments the supporters of the bonus system advocate.

"THE LITTLE CHURCH AROUND THE CORNER."

From the New York Tribune May 19.

Almost fifty years have passed since Joe Jefferson, seeking a clergyman to read the burial service over the body of versatile and well-beloved George Holland, was told by a pastor of little vision that the funeral of an actor would not be permitted from the house of God over which he presided, but that there was a "little church around the corner," wherein it might be held. "God Bless the Little Church Around the Corner!" exclaimed Jefferson, and into Twenty-ninth street he went to the Church of the Transfiguration, where the Rev. George Hendrick Houghton received him with sympathy and understanding. The name thus given to that church has achieved world-wide fame; wherever it is uttered men and women think of kindly interest, of benevolent assistance wisely administered, of friendship and inspiration from priests whose simplicity of mind is the reflex of their wide experience and truly Christian faith.

For George Hendrick Houghton, as he was good and generous in life, was fortunate in death to have a worthy man to succeed him in the rectorship of The Little Church Around the Corner. This was his nephew, the Rev. George Clarke Houghton, who took up his uncle's office in 1897, and today Thursday, celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of his ordering to the priesthood.

As Dr. Houghton sees and hears tributes to long years well spent for others there will be another tribute to him. It will come from men and women scattered through the town the country, the whole world, who in sorrow or in distress, in the joy of love or the misery of disgrace, sought an ever-open door beyond which knowledge supported by brotherly love, experience enlightened by charity, trust in humanity fortified by faith in God, have bound up their wounds of heart or conscience or soul and sent them out with renewed strength to fight the battle of life. On the lips of these grateful ones will be the word, "God bless Dr. Houghton and The Little Church Around the Corner!"

BICYCLES STILL POPULAR.

That the bicycle is not an obsolete method of conveyance in this country is revealed by official figures from the Federal Bureau of Census, which show that the output of the industry increased from $3,757,318 in 1914 to $12,277,341 in 1919. While the bicycle was making this remarkable come-back the motorcycle was losing ground. In 1914 there were produced 62,154 motorcycles, while in 1919 the total was 59,214.

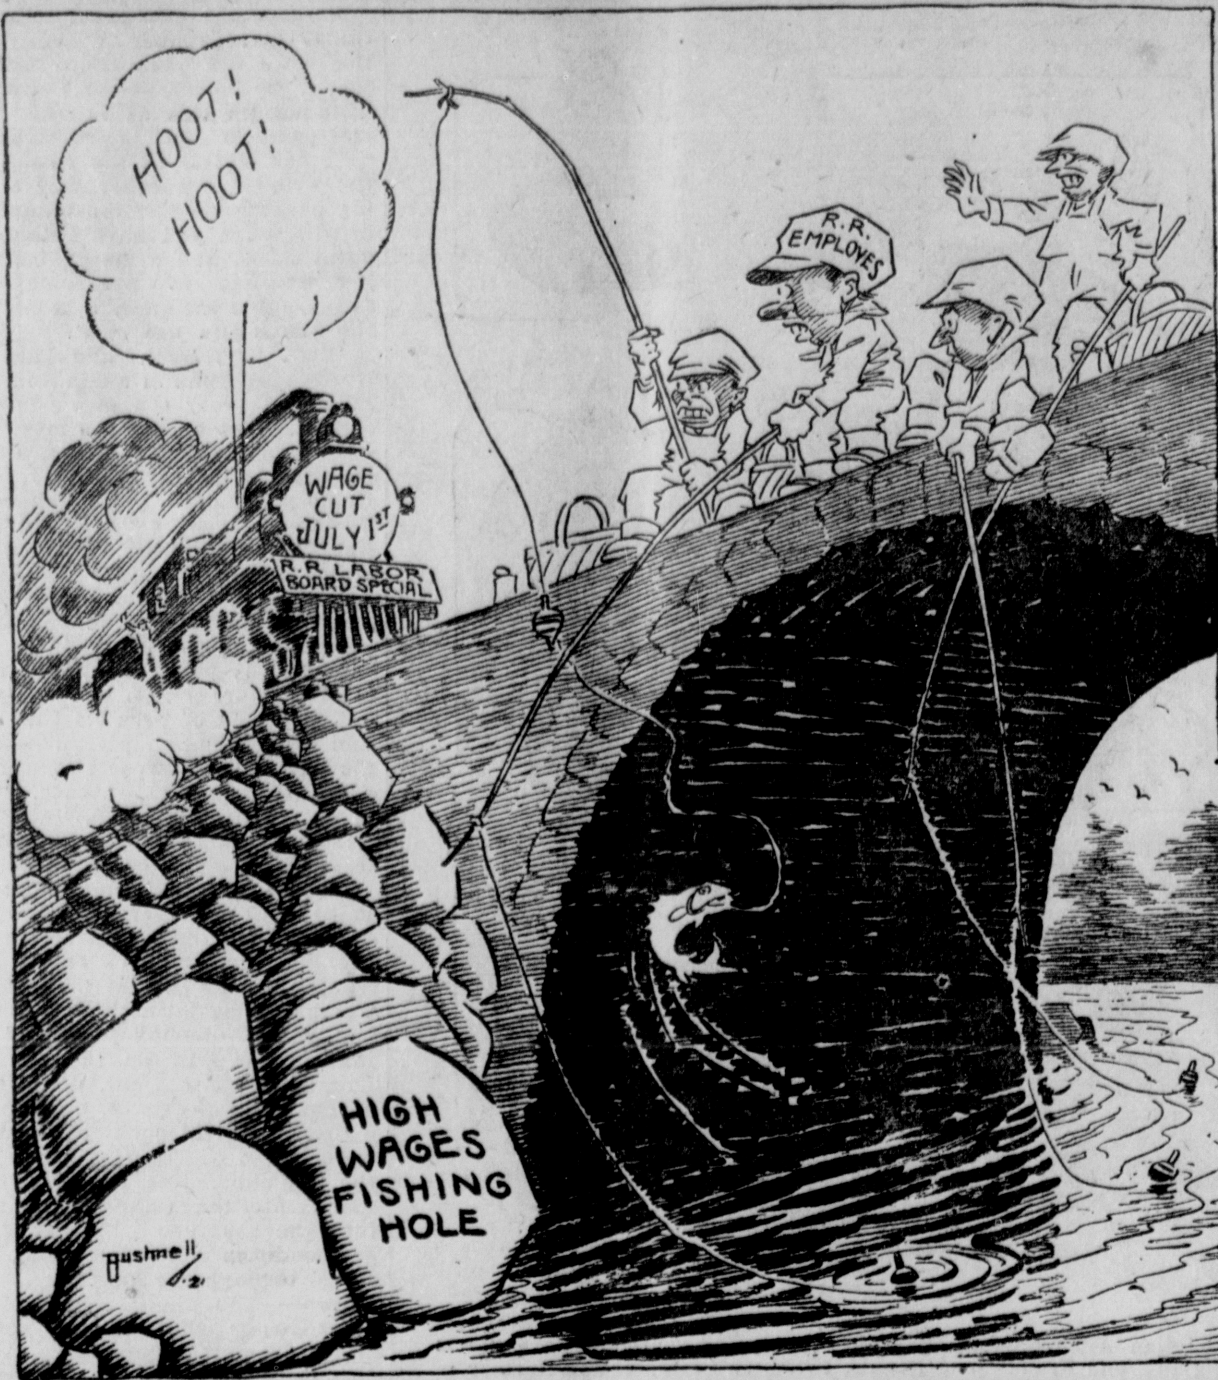

Back of the increase in sales and popularity of the bicycle there is a lesson in co-operation and organization which it might be well for manufacturers of other lines of merchandise to heed. This growth is largely due to the well-directed efforts of an organization maintained not by one manufacturer or group of manufacturers, but by all the bicycle makers of the United States for the purpose of boosting the industry, bicycle riding and bicycle sales.

FALSE TEETH.

My new false teeth are now in place, and they fill out the sunken face that lately I have worn as substitute; they're a success, and yet I wearily confess that man was made to mourn. There is no perfect bliss below; behind each joy there is a woe, behind each smile a tear; my teeth are always lost, by jing, and I will have to get a string and tie them to my ear. I take them from their dread abode while I compose a stirring ode, to gain the poet's wreath; and then the dinner horn is blown, and I exclaim, with throbbing moan, "Where are those dad-blamed teeth?" An absent-minded gent I am; I can't remember worth a yam the things I should recall; I'm always losing fountain pens, and pins and pups and setting hens, my watch and tennis ball. But somehow I could plug away when all these things were gone astray, and many more beside; I'd get me other pins and pups and fountain pens and mustache cups, and let the lost ones slide. But I put up some fierce harangues when I have lost my priceless fangs, all shiny, white and new; until they're found I cannot eat the large and luscious joint of meat, or anything but stew. Alas, there is no perfect bliss in such a tithorn world as this, on such a misfit sphere; my ding-donged teeth are lost again, and when they're found I'll get a chain and chain them to my ear.

Clocks

Lips of Millions

In Steamboat Towns

AN EDITORIAL ON ADVERTISING

In the early steamboat towns, life was slow, irregular, unprogressive, because everything depended upon the boat, and no one knew when a boat would get in.

On the other hand, the railroad towns were wide awake, clocks were in every home, and life went forward with present-time regularity—all because the scheduled arrival and departure of trains set a standard to which the entire town conformed.

The railroad brought progressiveness, made the population, of necessity, regulate their time by the ticking of the clock. The railroad also brought the town close to the outside world and its products closer to the town.

Before the advent of the railroad, the business man had little or no competition. People accepted whatever the merchant had to offer and the merchant provided he kept his store clean and was behind the counter to tend to customers, was considered a one hundred per cent business man.

But, after the advent of the railroad, a great change took place. The man who conducted business in the same old way ceased to be a business man of one hundred per cent perception, and became a business man of ninety-nine per cent perception. The missing one percent was—

Advertising!

Modern advertising is simply one per cent of business; but how important is that one per cent!

It may be likened to the key-stone upon which the entire arch depends.

The roof of a building is only one per cent of that building—the foundation may be built solidly, the walls may be built in strict accordance with the rules of architecture and the decorations and fittings may be of the finest—but if the roof is not placed on the building—the one per cent—everything within that building is doomed to ruin.

And so with the building of business—if the advertising, the one per cent, is omitted or is faulty in any way, the business is doomed to failure before it starts.

Advertising thus becomes a business builder, because it is a buyer guarantee and readers of good advertising find it as profitable to them as it is to the 100 per cent merchant and manufacturer who use it.

These 100 per cent business men do not attempt to save money by cutting out advertising, because they know that would be like the man who stops the clock to save time, and you, the customer will not attempt to spend your money without first reading advertising, if you want to make every buying dollar do its full duty.

The money which the merchant and manufacturer spend for advertising is money saved for themselves and for their customers. For them it means their names and the names of their goods on the lips of millions of people, hence increased volume of sales; and for the customer lower prices and better quality merchandise.

Buyers of 100 per cent perception, therefore, meet business men of 100 per cent perception more than half way—and thus are both advertisers and readers of advertising benefited.

Yes, it pays to advertise—every successful business man admits it. And it pays to read advertising—continuously and carefully. Every man and woman who makes a practice of following its buying suggestions from day to day admits it gratefully.

LAST AMERICAN GOLF SURVIVOR OUT OF TOURNEY

BY FRANK CARRUTHERS.

(Editor of Golf Illustrated.)
Hoy Lake, England, May 26.—Fred C. Wright, lone survivor of the American contingent that entered the British amateur golf championship was put out of the running in the sixth round today by Bernard Darwin, of Woking at the 19th hole.

The last hope of the Yankees went down to defeat fighting like a champion. The match was a nip and tuck affair from the very start and the big gallery that braved a leaden sky, a damp breeze off the troubled Irish sea and a murky mist that hung out the links got thrill and thrill.

Four British players now remain in the tourney. They are Darwin, who will meet Willie Hunter of Walmer and Kingsdown and H. S. Tubbs, of Sunningdale and A. J. Graham of the Royal Liverpool Club who will compete in the semi-final round.

The results of the sixth round follow:

Bernard Darwin, Woking, beat Fred Wright, Boston, at the 19th. Willie Hunter of Walmer and Kingsdown beat E. W. Holderness, Walton Heath 4 up and 3 to play.

H. S. B. Tubbs of Sunningdale beat John B. Beddard of Penn Club 3 up and 2 to play.

A. J. Graham, Royal Liverpool, beat F. C. Harrison, Formby, 2 up and 1 to play.

Practical Business Talk

MAGIC OF THE PRINTED WORD.

Your daily newspaper actually performs the feat that fortune tellers falsely claim. Past, Present and Future are portrayed in type and pictures. The news stories relate the deeds and words of yesterday and today. It is the privilege of the advertising writer to accurately predict the apparel, food and amusements of tomorrow. The gown that Mrs. Brown will wear at next Tuesday's bridge battle, the breakfast food and coffee that will lighten Smith's gloom, the very garments of infants that are yet to be, are pictured in the advertisements.

The ordering of our daily lives is influenced by the power of advertising. The luxuries of yesterday become the necessities of today, because advertising makes mass production possible.

The news provides a momentary thrill, or gives cause for an instant's thought. Advertisements influence the choice of those intimate articles for daily use, that determine comfort and well being.

Idle workmen take up their tools, when advertising creates the buying impulse.

The orange growers in California, the date pickers of Smyrna and the silk weavers of Japan depend upon advertising to market the product of their daily toil.

Mary of Main Street knows the skirt length of Parisian Marie, the Beau Brummel of Broadway and the barber of Brownsville are collared and clothed alike, through the magic of the printed word.

PARENTS URGED TO ATTEND SCHOOL FRIDAY TO WITNESS EXHIBIT OF WORK OF PUPILS

Offering to parents, relatives and friends an opportunity of viewing the work of the school pupils of Xenia, all city schools will give an exhibit Friday of each phase of the curricula, with elaborate displays in the respective buildings.

This is the second display this year, the first being held between semesters last winter, and is an innovation of Superintendent C. A. Waltz who is of the opinion that a closer contact can be established and maintained between teachers and parents, through this agency.

Fully ten thousand spectators are expected at the exhibit, Friday, which will open in the morning and continue all day. In the afternoon classes will be dismissed in order to give parents and teachers an opportunity of examining and explaining the displays. The scheme of the exhibition, as explained by Superintendent Waltz, will follow the general lines of presenting samples of work done in individual classes in the particular rooms in which those subjects are taught. Specimens of work of the manual training and domestic science departments will be shown in the hall.

The plan has no bearing on the grades won by the pupils during the year but is altogether a question of pride of the pupils, who will vie for honors in the exhibition.

Superintendent Waltz has issued a call urging that all parents and friends attend the exhibition, sometime during the day. Teachers and principals will be on hand to welcome visitors, and some means of entertainment will be provided in each building. It is understood that in some of the buildings ice cream and cake will be sold during the day. Plans for a gala occasion are rapidly being completed, and those in charge look for a record attendance.

HOW TO PICK THE WINNER OF THE DEMPSEY-CARPENTIER FIGHT

Carpentier, in U.S. for Big Bout, Will Train Differently Than Jack

The first round of the preliminaries to the Carpentier-Dempsey engagement July 2 has already been staged—with Carpentier's manager leading with a straight oratorical jab to the face without a return. Said wallop occurred on the ar-get the gate receipts from the work outs. We are after Dempsey's title. Which is considerable dig at Manager Kearns who has camped his charge at the nationals playground Atlantic City, where he can draw a big gate every day Dempsey works out.

Aside from the fact that Carpentier will eliminate the public receptions at his workouts he will introduce several other novel ideas.

First of all he brought along a combination prize fighter and cook—the only one of his kind in captivity. The gent is Battling Marcot. Marcot will have complete charge of Carpentier's eating and between meals will climb into the ring and attempt to swat his own make of biscuits as they rest in George's tummy.

Next, Carpentier has brought a "Jack Dempsey," along with him to practice on. He is Paul Journee, chief sparring partner. Journee is a big muscular, speedy gent of Dempsey's general size and build. Journee will be coached to fight a la Dempsey in his workouts with Carpentier.

And then Carpentier will devote further and further from the usual training camp stuff by spending very little time in ring togs.

Georges is now at 175 pounds, according to Deschamps. He is in practically perfect shape physically now. He doesn't have to train hard to get "down tne." What he must do is to keep in perfect trim and box enough to time his punches perfectly and keep in hitting trim.

In other words there will be no training grind for Georges. He will spend much of his time walking, resting about the camp or doing light exercising. Only a few minutes a day will he devote to slamming Journee, Marcot and other partners about the ring, as he hopes to slam Dempsey.

Whether or not Carpentier is returned the victor July 2 he will give boxing fans plenty of dope for discussions and considerable interesting reading.

What he does to Dempsey will come later, as old Plog Woods used to say.

The Important Approach Shot

The player who is a master of strong approaching shots is always to be feared and I want to lay special emphasis upon the importance of cultivating this part of golf. I had this borne in upon me last week for perhaps the thousandth time in a match in which I had the honor of playing with President Harding. But that is another story. Many a poor putter wins his game on the approach, for the better his approach shot the less he has to do on the green. Moreover when a man is skilful with the mashie, even if his putting is not quite up to par, he can often afford an extra stroke on the green. If approaching is poorly done and a player is up against a long putt he is under severe nervous tension until the ball has been holed and it often happens that putting is poorly done when a player is in this nervous frame of mind. A number of noted players have paid me compliments on my mashie work. And whatever success I have enjoyed in golf has been largely due to this iron play. Personally I think that mashie play is one of the most interesting parts of golf and I have cultivated this department of my game assiduously.

In considering approach shots I am reminded of the story of the rather conceited Englishman who was playing on a noted course in Ireland. He handed his bag to a typical little Irish caddy who was surprised to find it contained only a driver and a putter. He asked the self-satisfied Britisher for the rest of the clubs and the Englishman replied that was all he used. "Just a driver to the green and then the putter, my boy," said the Englishman. The first hole was a short one and sure enough the ball landed on the green. The second hole, however, was a long shot and the Englishman topped his drive. The Irish lad approached his employer with a gleam of mischief in his eye, handed him the putter and said in a rich Irish brogue, "Now thin fer a whale ov a putt."

I have explained in previous articles the stance and grip for mashie play. In using this club I believe golfers will do well to select one with a good amount of loft in it and a rather wide blade. At least it has been my experience and that of players whose work I have studied that the best results are to be had from a club of this type. Avoid a flexible shaft in a mashie. A mashie is designed for nice, accurate play, for work where control is a vital point, but this does not mean that the club can have a delicate shaft, as many situations arise where the shaft is called upon to perform a rough job. In playing with the mashie we are called upon for the ordinary mashie shot, which calls simply for a judgment of the force necessary to put into the stroke and control the mashie; and there is the special mashie shot.

In the ordinary mashie shot the player should rely on the club to give the ball loft and not make a strenuous effort to get under it. This last is one of the common faults of golfers.

In the running up approach the ground outside the putting green must be good; otherwise the chip shot should be employed to get over the rough. Some players prefer an approaching iron rather than a mashie for the running up approach or at least to use a straight faced mashie. These are details of individual preference for the player to solve. The mashie shot with cut and spin applied to the ball must of course be used if there is a high bunker guarding the green in order that the ball will fall dead or practically so. To execute this shot the club head must skim right under the ball, taking the turf, and at the instant of impact the club face should be drawn toward the left foot to give the cut as described in a previous article. This is a shot which requires much practice and dexterity.

U. S. WOMAN WINS PRIZE FOR SECOND TIME WITH LOVE POEMS

New York.—Sara Teasdale, distinguished American writer, has been awarded the "Brookes More" prize for having written the best poetry in 1920. The poems receiving the prize are included in her "Flame and Shadow."

In 1918 Miss Teasdale, who is in private life Mrs. Ernest B. Filsinger, won the first prize ever offered in America for a book of poems. Then the award came to her through her latest book, "Love Songs." The prize a five hundred dollar one, offered by Columbia University by an American citizen published during that year.

Although one of the youngest American poets, Sara Teasdale is well known to all lovers of poetry and her work has been widely appreciated in England and Canada, as well as in this country. Her poems are highly prized and are considered by many critics to be the best examples of this kind of poetry written in America today.

Among her works are "Sonnets to Duse," "Helen of Troy," "Rivers to the Sea," "Love Songs," and many short poems contributed to magazines. She edited "The Answering Voice" and "One Hundred Love Lyrics by Women."

By Mrs. George Elliott McCormick.

Federation's Pioneer Association
The Ohio Federation's Pioneer Association is planning something very splendid for the state convention in Cincinnati next October. For that reason officers of the Pioneer association are anxious for every eligible club woman to join now. Here are the eligibles:

Any president or delegate who sat in convention prior to and including 1920; state officers and state chairmen of standing committees and chairmen of local program committees where conventions have been held since 1900. Forward eligible names to Mrs. Addison Broomhall, Troy, president of the Ohio Pioneer Association.

Death of Miss Riordan

The Ohio Federation suffered a distinct loss last week when Miss Annie E. Riordan, chairman of the civil service of the state organization, died from a complication of diseases at her home in Columbus. For many years Miss Riordan had been a faithful and tireless worker in both the state and Columbus federations.

American Club in Paris

At the conference of the Middle-East district at New Philadelphia, Mrs. William H. Sharp, Columbus, president of the Ohio Federation, was asked about the American Woman's club in Paris. Club women of the Middle-East district had received an appeal for contributions for the Paris club and they waited to know more about it. At that time Mrs. Sharp was unable to speak as to the worthiness of the appeal definitely. Since then, however, she has conducted an investigation which revealed that the American Women's Club at Paris is doing a notably worthy work in receiving and helping Americans visiting in Paris and in aiding relatives who go there to seek out the graves of American heroes who sacrificed their lives in the Great War.

Industrial, Business Relations

Miss Helen S. Wolle, Akron, member of the industrial and business relations committee of the General federation, outlining the work of her committee, voices the hope that some of the subjects submitted by her will be placed on programs for next year. A complete list with guides which include suggestions as to speakers, discussion of topics and reading material will be sent to any club desiring it. The topics include "Resources of the United States," "Industrial Development," "Women in Industry," "Women in the Home," "The Closed Shop and the Open Shop," "Findings and Recommendations," "The Employee, the Public and the Employer as Factors in Industry." Address Miss Helen S. Wolle, No. 100 Mayfield Avenue, Akron.

Death to Rats!

Federated club women at Youngstown were not afraid of a mouse when they signed a death warrant for all the rats in their city. A general clean up was ordered by the club women because of the unprecedented number of rodents infesting Youngstown. This condition was attributed largely to the fact that many of the mills had not been running as usual and when the operatives left the rats infesting the mill yards migrated to the city in search of food. Allied with the Youngstown federation in the rat-killing bee were the board of health Youngstown Chamber of Commerce and numerous civic organizations.

ENROLLMENT GAINS IN OHIO SCHOOLS, 9,000 EVERY YEAR

Enrollment in Ohio schools is increasing at the rate of 9,000 a year, while the number of school buildings is decreasing. Consolidation and centralization of schools is the explanation.

Complete statistics on last year's school report, by the state department on public instruction show that 1,020,665 children were enrolled in schools. Of these 52,240 had previously been enrolled elsewhere in the state. The net enrollment, therefore was 968,425, a gain of nearly 9,000 over the previous year.

More than half the total enrollment is found in the 80 city districts. Transfers of pupils indicate that population shifts more in rural sections than in cities.

Length of School Year.
The average length of the school year for all schools is 171 days; for elementary schools, 170 days; high schools, 172 days; city high and elementary schools, 181 days; village elementary 169 days; Village high schools, 170 days; rural elementary 161 days and rural high schools, 165 days.

Cities employed 16,218 teachers villages 5057 and rural districts 12-476, a total of 33,751. In the cities there were 35 pupils to each teacher; in the villages, 29 pupils and in rural schools, 25 pupils. There are four and a half times as many women teachers as men. Approximately one-sixth of the teachers, 5987 are high school teachers. Twenty years ago there were only 1884 such teachers.

During the past 2 years the number of buildings decreased from 13,073 to 10,327. Although many buildings have been built in recent years, consolidation and centralization has eliminated many small buildings which have been replaced by one large school.

Acquire Much Land
Boards of education acquired last year land valued at $1,803,900, most of which was used for building sites and playgrounds. Buildings erected cost $9,175,731. Cuyahoga and Summit counties led in the amount spent for new buildings. A half million dollars was spent remodeling old buildings. Portage and Montgomery leading. In equipping new buildings and grounds, $887,166 was expended. Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties leading.

Total revenue receipts of schools was $59,650,188; amount received from sale of bonds, $35,036,864. The balance on hand from the previous school year was $23,946,736 making the total amount of funds available $121,132,782.

School districts paid each other almost one million dollars for the tuition of pupils attending school outside their home districts. Salaries of teachers amounted to $31,125,687. High school teachers received one-fifth of this. Based on net enrollment the cost of teaching one pupil cost an average of $32.96 in high school and $29.56 in elementary school. The total cost of instruction including teaching, supervision, supplies, textbooks, etc., was $36,479,284.

WHY NOT SPEND YOUR VACATION ON YOUR OWN ISLAND?

VACATION CLUB ON WAY TO CAMP IN ONTARIO'S WILDS. A COZY CABIN IN THE PINES

How would you like to own an island in the Northland, an island holding a snug summer cabin? There is no reason why you should not own one if the idea appeals to you. Ontario's vast waterways contain countless islands of all sorts, shapes and sizes. Most of them belong to the provincial government and are for sale at ridiculously low figures. Ten dollars per acre is the average price. As many of the islands are less than an acre in extent, you may purchase one of them for a nominal sum.

In the French River district, so well beloved of sportsmen, are many island-dotted lakes. Most of these waters are little visited and well stocked with fish. Trout Lake, reached by an eight-mile boat ride from Paget station, is noted for its excellent fishing and scenic beauty. This beauty is due, in large measure, to the pretty islands. Some of them have been used for several seasons by camping parties, but nearly all still belong to the government and hence are available for purchase.

Working northeast from Trout Lake, the wide expanse of Lake Nipissing is entered. Here are many islands with fine beaches. One of the larger of these islands will hold a boys' camp this summer. Crossing Lake Nipissing, the town of North Bay is reached. This is the gateway to a lake region that stretches northward. Timagami Lake, 72 miles north of North Bay, an octopus-like lake with nine long arms, contains 1,600 islands. Count 'em. They have all been numbered by the government. They range in size from a few square feet holding a lone pine, to Timagami with its 3,000 acres of forest trees.

Timagami's islands provide sites for many charming summer homes. There are a number of Cleveland and Pittsburgh families among the summer colony. The area of Lake Timagami is 85 square miles, exclusive of its islands. This insures against the possibility of crowding, even though several hundreds of families make their summer homes there. Bear Island, 13 miles from Timagami station, boasts an Indian Village and a Hudson's Bay Post and is the center of island life. Several launch services afford ample means for getting about for those who do not have their own launches. Fishing and scenery are all that could be desired. Bass, dore, pike and trout are plentiful. A boat trip among the islands presents a kaleidoscopic picture with ever changing vistas of green and blue beauty.

FINAL CHAPTER IN BEAVERCREEK DITCH CASE WRITTEN BY SUPREME COURT OF OHIO

Another chapter in the famous Beaver Creek ditch case, better known as the Harshman case, from its author J. F. Harshman, was written this week when the state Supreme Court upheld the decision of the Appellate Court and the Greene County Common Pleas Court in citing the County Commissioners for contempt.

The contempt charge grew out of the failure of the Commissioners to connect Gray's Run, a small stream in Beaver Creek township with Beaver Creek, according to a decision handed down in Common Pleas Court in the case. The Commissioners carried the case to the Court of Appeals where the Common Pleas Court was upheld, and the Supreme Court now has upheld the Appellate Court in this decision. As a result, the Commissioners will not only have to fulfill the original decision, but must each pay $5 fine for contempt.

The famous ditch, from its original inception has been in litigation ten or twelve years. The case began when the Greene County Commissioners attempted to dredge Beaver Creek, establishing a grade in the creek bed, to drain certain lowlands, said to consist of 600 or 700 acres of ground above Ankeney mill road. Action was first deferred by a dam on the Harshman property, which was later removed, after the Commissioners had attempted to establish another creek bed around the dam in which they were frustrated by the courts.

After attempting to dredge the creek through the Harshman farm, it is alleged, the dredgers found that they were not getting results because of the vast amount of loose sand and gravel which constantly filled up the stream bed. They then started to cut a new creek bed across the Harshman land, with the intention of abandoning the old bed, when they were stopped by injunction brought by J. F. Harshman.

with contempt, which charge the state supreme court has just upheld. Now, although Commissioners are required to cut a bed for Gray's Run to the new stream bed, it is understood that so long as the case has been in litigation, that the stream has cut its own way to the new bed. ## WITH THE OHIO SOLONS

C. C. WALTERMIRE, CORRESPONDENT OHIO REPUBLICAN EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION.

Columbus, O., May 25.—The probable action of the General Assembly in its return on the 27th with respect to an adjournment or recess, continues to be the absorbing topic of political discussion. There is already a rift in the clouds and it is disclosed that the difference of the House and Senate as well as the alleged adverse position of the Governor are more imaginary than real.

A reported poll of the members of the House before leaving for their homes is said to have revealed that a surprising number including most of those who have been active in House legislation, held the same views as to the necessity for a constructive program as do members of the Senate who have given the subject of the duty of the Republican majority with respect to party pledges the closest study. "An adjournment," said one prominent House member, "without a further effort to provide taxation relief for the people of Ohio, would be cowardly, unstatesmanlike and a repudiation of our party pledge." In support of this position the platform is being quoted freely in which the party in the campaign of 1920 promised the following:

"We affirm the underlying principle of the Smith Law and declare for rigid limitation upon the creation of public debt. When this safeguard is an accomplished fact, subdivisions should not be limited in their ability to pay existing obligations or obligations authorized by law and by a vote of the people."

"We declare for the immediate establishment of a pay as you go policy. Home rule in taxation is approved, insofar as it is possible under our constitution. Authority should be given to political subdivisions to exceed fixed rates of taxation by a vote of the people."

"We declare for an economical and business-like administration—state, county and municipal. We demand efficiency in administration, and a budget system that will balance out-go with income; that fixes responsibility and effectuates true business principles in administration of public funds."

"We condemn the cowardly, unbusiness-like policy of the Democratic party, which has consistently REFUSED TO LEND CONSTRUCTIVE AID IN THE SOLUTION OF THIS GRAVE QUESTION."

The failure to agree upon a taxation program up to this time is no longer taken as a token of future failure but rather as an incentive for renewed effort and continued labor. Those who take this view are committed to a last ditch effort to redeem the party pledge and find their views mirrored in a forceful editorial expression in the Columbus Dispatch of May 17th. The last paragraph reads:

"The problem touch the people most sorely, that of methods and limits in taxation, has found no approach towards solution. It is hardly worth while to find individual resting places for the chief blame in this disappointing situation. The Dispatch will certainly not use it to prove any pessimistic theory of the

HUSBAND AND WIFE BOTH SICK

She has had no trouble since taking Foley Kidney Pills. I don't have to get up at night so much since taking Foley Kidney Pills, nor have I a weak back." Backache, sore, swollen or stiff muscles or joints, tired languid feeling—yield quickly to Foley Kidney Pills. Sayre & Hemp-hill. adv

Democratic institutions in general. "Pick your flint and try again" was the courageous motto of our pioneer forefathers, when they "missed fire" in any endeavor. It is a good motto still."

The members have had time during the recesses to take some inventory of the work they have accomplished as well as measures that were offered or suggested and were not enacted into law. All of these are said to contribute to the reasons for an extended recess for the purpose of taking an accounting, seeking counsel and waiting for the time and opportunity that would enable the passing of certain important legislation. Results of the Fall election will determine the fate of certain constitutional amendments which have been submitted to the people; all of which will require legislation to carry into effect provisions which they contain should they be adopted by the people.

A political question of increasing interest is the matter of redistricting the state. The General Assembly has deferred action in this matter, pending the passing of a reapportionment bill by Congress. Should Congress fail to pass such a measure Ohio would have two additional members in that body. Should the present legislature fail to redistrict the state the next or 85th General Assembly would be certain to do so.

Of grave concern to the party leaders, outside as well as inside the General Assembly, is the possibility of the next legislature being Democratic in which event the state would have a Democratic gerrymander. Such a one based on twenty-four districts instead of twenty-two, as at present would enable the Democrats to construct three or four Republican districts similar in character to the present Seventh District and leaving others safely Democratic. This would be a rather delicate subject for Governor Davis to designate as one to be considered by an extraordinary session should he be compelled to call one.

For this and other similar reasons the seeming getting together is accounted for and it is quite likely it may approach a unanimity of opinion in favor of a recess when the assembly returns the 27th of this month.

WIFE TAKES HUSBANDS ADVICE

And Is Made Well Again by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Springfield, Mass.—"The doctor told my husband that I had to have an operation, otherwise I would be a sickly woman and could not have any more children on account of my weakened condition. I refused to have the operation. My husband asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see if it would not help me. For the first four months I could do but little work, had to lie down most of the time, was nervous and could eat hardly anything, but my husband was always reminding me to take the Vegetable Compound, which I did. Of my eight children this last one was the easiest birth of all and I am thankful for your Vegetable Compound. I recommend it to my friends when I hear them complaining about their ills."—Mrs. M. NATALE, 72 Fremont St., Springfield, Mass.

Sickly, ailing women make unhappy homes, and after reading Mrs. Natale's letter one can imagine how this home was transformed by her restoration to health. Every woman who suffers from such ailments should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It is surely worth while.

ENROLLMENT GAINS IN OHIO SCHOOLS, 9,000 EVERY YEAR

Enrollment in Ohio schools is increasing at the rate of 9,000 a year, while the number of school buildings is decreasing. Consolidation and centralization of schools is the explanation.

Complete statistics on last year's school report, by the state department on public instruction show that 1,020,665 children were enrolled in schools. Of these 52,240 had previously been enrolled elsewhere in the state. The net enrollment, therefore was 968,425, a gain of nearly 9,000 over the previous year.

More than half the total enrollment is found in the city districts. Transfers of pupils indicate that population shifts more in rural sections than in cities.

Length of School Year. The average length of the school year for all schools is 171 days; for elementary schools, 170 days; high schools, 172 days; city high and elementary schools, 181 days; village elementary 169 days; Village high schools, 170 days; rural elementary 161 days and rural high schools, 165 days.

Cities employed 16,218 teachers villages 5057 and rural districts 12,476, a total of 33,751. In the cities there were 35 pupils to each teacher; in the villages, 29 pupils and in rural schools, 25 pupils. There are four and a half times as many women teachers as men. Approximately one-sixth of the teachers, 5987 are high school teachers. Twenty years ago there were only 1884 such teachers.

During the past 20 years the number of buildings decreased from 13,073 to 10,327. Although many buildings have been built in recent years, consolidation and centralization has eliminated many small buildings which have been replaced by one large school.

Acquire Much Land Boards of education acquired last year land valued at $1,803,900, most of which was used for building sites and playgrounds. Buildings erected cost $9,175,731. Cuyahoga and Summit counties led in the amount spent for new buildings. A half million dollars was spent remodeling old buildings. Portage and Montgomery leading in equipping new buildings and grounds. $387,166 was expended. Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties leading.

Total revenue receipts of schools was $59,650,188; amount received from sale of bonds, $35,036,864. The balance on hand from the previous school year was $23,946,736 making the total amount of funds available $121,132,782.

School districts paid each other almost one million dollars for the tuition of pupils attending school outside their home districts. Salaries of teachers amounted to $31,125,887. High school teachers received one-fifth of this. Based on net enrollment the cost of teaching one pupil cost an average of $32 a year $49.30 in high school and $29.56 in elementary school. The total cost of instruction including teaching, supervision, supplies, textbooks, etc., was $36,479,284.

WHY NOT SPEND YOUR VACATION ON YOUR OWN ISLAND?

VACATION CLUB ON WAY TO CAMP IN ONTARIO'S - A COZY CABIN IN THE PINES

How would you like to own an island in the Northland, an island holding a snug summer cabin? There is no reason why you should not own one if the idea appeals to you. Ontario's vast waterways contain countless islands of all sorts, shapes and sizes. Most of them belong to the provincial government and are for sale at ridiculously low figures. Ten dollars per acre is the average price. As many of the islands are less than an acre in extent, you may purchase one of them for a nominal sum.

In the French River district, so well beloved of sportsmen, are many island-dotted lakes. Most of these waters are little visited and well stocked with fish. Trout Lake, reached by an eight-mile boat ride from Paget station, is noted for its excellent fishing and scenic beauty. This beauty is due, in large measure, to the pretty islands. Some of them have been used for several seasons by camping parties, but nearly all still belong to the government and hence are available for purchase.

Working northeast from Trout Lake, the wide expanse of Lake Nipissing is entered. Here are many islands with fine beaches. One of the larger of these islands will hold a boys' camp this summer.

Crossing Lake Nipissing, the town of North Bay is reached. This is the gateway to a lake region that stretches northward. Timagami Lake, 72 miles north of North Bay, an octopus-like lake with nine long arms, contains 1,600 islands. Count 'em. They have all been numbered by the government. They range in size from a few from Paget station, is noted for its excellent fishing and scenic beauty. Timagami with its 3,000 acres of forest trees.

FINAL CHAPTER IN BEAVERCREEK DITCH CASE WRITTEN BY SUPREME COURT OF OHIO

Another chapter in the famous Beaver Creek ditch case, better known as the Harshman case, from its author J. F. Harshman, was written this week when the state Supreme Court upheld the decision of the Appellate Court and the Greene County Common Pleas Court in citing the County Commissioners for contempt.

The contempt charge grew out of the failure of the Commissioners to connect Gray's Run, a small stream in Beaver Creek township with Beaver Creek, according to a decision handed down in Common Pleas Court in the case. The Commissioners carried the case to the Court of Appeals where the Common Pleas Court was upheld, and the supreme Court now has upheld the Appellate Court in this decision. As a result, the Commissioners will not only have to fulfill the original decision, but must each pay $5 fine for contempt.

The famous ditch, from its original inception, has been in litigation ten or twelve years. The case began when the Greene County Commissioners attempted to dredge Beaver Creek, establishing a grade in the creek bed, to drain certain lowlands, said to consist of 600 or 700 acres of ground above Ankeney mill road. Action was first deferred by a dam on the Harshman property, which was later removed, after the Commissioners had attempted to establish another creek bed around the dam in which they were frustrated by the courts.

After attempting to dredge the creek through the Harshman farm, it is alleged, the dredgers found that they were not getting results because of the vast amount of loose sand and gravel which constantly filled up the stream bed. They then started to cut a new creek bed across the Harshman land, with the intention of abandoning the old bed, when they were stopped by injunction brought by J. F. Harshman.

with contempt, which charges the state supreme court has just upheld.

Now, although Commissioners are required to cut a bed for Gray's Run to the new stream bed, it is understood that so long as the case has been in litigation, that the stream has cut its own way to the new bed.

HANK and PETE ITS A WONDER PETE DIDN'T MAKE IT PENNIES! By KEN KLING

WITH THE OHIO SOLONS

C. C. WALTERMIRE, CORRESPONDENT OHIO REPUBLICAN EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION.

Columbus, O., May 25.—The probable action of the General Assembly in its return on the 27th with respect to an adjournment or recess, continues to be the absorbing topic of political discussion. There is already a rift in the clouds and it is disclosed that the difference of the House and Senate as well as the alleged adverse position of the Governor are more imaginary than real.

A reported poll of the members of the House before leaving for their homes is said to have revealed that a surprising number including most of those who have been active in House legislation, held the same views as to the necessity for a constructive program as do members of the Senate who have given the subject of the duty of the Republican majority with respect to party pledges the closest study. "An adjournment," said one prominent House member, "without a further effort to provide taxation relief for the people of Ohio, would be cowardly, unstatesmanlike and a repudiation of our party pledge." In support of this position the platform is being quoted freely in which the party in the campaign of 1920 promised the following:

"We affirm the underlying principle of the Smith Law and declare for rigid limitation upon the creation of public debt. When this safeguard is an accomplished fact, subdivisions should not be limited in their ability to pay existing obligations or obligations authorized by law and by a vote of the people.

"We declare for the immediate establishment of a pay as you go policy. Home rule in taxation is approved, insofar as it is possible under our constitution. Authority should be given to political subdivisions to exceed fixed rates of taxation by a vote of the people.

"We declare for an economical and business-like administration—state, county and municipal. We demand efficiency in administration, and a budget system that will balance out-go with income; that fixes responsibility and effectuates true business principles in administration of public funds.

"We condemn the cowardly, unbusiness-like policy of the Democratic party, which has consistently REFUSED TO LEND CONSTRUCTIVE AID IN THE SOLUTION OF THIS GRAVE QUESTION."

The failure to agree upon a taxation program up to this time is no longer taken as a token of future failure but rather as an incentive for renewed effort and continued labor. Those who take this view are committed to a last ditch effort to redeem the party pledge and find their views mirrored in a forceful editorial expression in the Columbus Dispatch of May 17th. The last paragraph reads:

"The problem touch the people most sorely, that of methods and limits in taxation, has found no approach towards solution. It is hardly worth while to find individual resting places for the chief blame in this disappointing situation. The Dispatch will certainly not use it to prove any pessimistic theory of the

MORE U. S. WOMEN IN ENGLISH COLLEGES

London.—A remarkable feature of next term at English universities will be the number of women students from abroad and residents in university towns are now continually receiving requests to take in foreign guests.

Ever since the war great numbers of women from Scandinavia have attended lectures at Oxford.

They will soon be outnumbered by women students from the United States who are anxious to enjoy the atmosphere of the older universities.

There is no room in the residential colleges, which are refusing up to 50 per cent of the applicants and most of these intellectual and already learned women do not desire a full three year's course.

So they become home students, and their quality is so high and their zeal so great that it is becoming the duty of the universities to cater to them by special lectures. They are immensely popular with their hosts as well as their fellow students. "Their influence," said a woman lecturer at Oxford, "is of the best possible sort. They widen our outlook and vitalize our intellectual life."

"The United States women students at present here," said Dr. Mac Lean, of the American University Union, "are taking, chiefly, courses in history, literature, economics and social science. Of those subjects which can be studied better in England than America, history, is one, because of the archives, shrines, records, art treasures and libraries, which the older countries possess. "A certain amount of exchange of students is taking place; some British girls hold traveling scholarships tenable at American universities."

Buy Your Coal Direct From Mine—Big Saving

The high cost of coal is a thing of the past! At least, there are no complaints on this point. The removal of government restrictions—among those who have learned how to buy coal. The way to buy coal is to get it direct from the mines. This saves several middlemen's profits. It saves hauling expenses. Anyone can now buy at mine prices, whether a carload buyer or one who uses only ten or fifteen tons a year. This has been made possible through a plan evolved by a large concern, THE BERNICE COAL COMPANY, with main offices at 642 Lomo Building, Chicago.

This company has thousands of customers in various sections of the United States who receive all of their coal direct from the mines. These customers are pleased not only because of the many dollars they save every year, but also because of the quality of coal they are getting. Many write that they never before had coal that makes so little dust, that burns so well, leaving so few ashes. If you are a coal user—whether you use hard or soft coal, much or little it will be greatly to your advantage to write the Bernice Coal Co. at once for prices, stating kind and quality of coal you use.—Adv.

LABOR UNIONS GIVE MAN ENDORSEMENT

Akron, O., May 26—Members of the Central Labor Unions last night endorsed W. E. Pardee for the common pleas bench in the court recently created by the general assembly. Pardee also has the endorsement of the county central committee but the bar association failed to take such action, endorsing instead Judge Philip Treash and W. A. Slaybaugh.

The bar association takes the position that Judgeships should be far removed from politics.

Pardee, formerly of the probate court, was Republican leader in last fall's campaign and the heavy vote cast is attributed largely to his efforts.

Dried Corn Custard—One cup of dried corn, two eggs, salt and pepper to taste, two tablespoons butter, one pint scalded milk.
Soak corn in warm water until it has absorbed all the liquid possible. Add well beaten eggs and other ingredients. Bake in slow oven until firm.

Saffron Cake—Two tablespoons butter or butter substitute, two cups sugar, two eggs, one box saffron, one package raisins, one package currants, one-quarter pound lemon peel, one-quarter pound citron, three teaspoons baking powder, one level teaspoon salt, four cups flour.

Steep saffron in one pint hot water; then let cool. Cream butter and sugar. Beat eggs and add to mixture. Then add saffron and fruit, stir well. Add baking powder and salt to flour; then add it to first mixture. Mix well. Bake in two-loaf tins; oven not too hot. Bake for one hour.

USES FOR STRAWBERRIES
Orange Pectin—To prepare the orange pectin use one-half pound white portion of orange peel, three tablespoons lemon juice and six cups of water. Grate the yellow from the peel of the orange, then remove the white portion and run it through the food chopper. Weigh and for each half pound allow three cups of water and three tablespoons of lemon juice.

Let stand over night, boil ten minutes and cool. Add another three cups of water, bring to a boil and let stand over night. Next day boil five minutes, cool, and strain through a flannel jelly bag.

Strawberry Mousse—One cup of cream, two cups strawberries, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoon cold water, three tablespoons hot water. Wash and hull berries; sprinkle with sugar and let stand one hour; mash, and rub through a fine sieve, add gelatine softened in cold water and dissolved in the hot.

Set in pan of ice water and stir until it begins to thicken; then fold in cream beaten stiff, put in mold, cover, pack in salt and ice and let stand two hours. Raspberries may be used in place of strawberries.

If there are no facilities for packing the mousse in ice a strawberry tapioca pudding to be served with the cream could be used instead.

SUGGESTIONS

Carpet Cleaner—Cut one bar of good carpet cleaning soap to one gallon of water, boil until soap is all dissolved; let cool so as to put in without burning. Scrub carpet with soft brush first, then wipe dry as possible with soft cloth; this is easy and makes carpet and rug cleaning a pleasure.

Wall Paper Cleaner—One cup of flour, one-half cup water, two tablespoons salt, two tablespoons ammonia, one tablespoon kerosene. Cook until it forms soft dough; when cold, rub paper with this. It is the equal of any of the cleaners on the market.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

A REASON FOR KEITH'S SUM- MONS

Chapter 51
I was so excited over what Mrs. Brown had told me that I could not sleep. It was hours before I finally dozed off, only to dream that Keith had left me for a widow who was old and ugly.

"I wonder—" More than once while I dressed the two words came to my lips. It was strange that Margaret was so nice to Mrs. De Lisle now if she had acted so toward her when Keith brought her to visit his parents. Had they been engaged? I would ask Keith sometime.

About noon he telephoned he was back at the factory and would be up for dinner at the usual time. I was delighted, yet in some way I was unaccountably depressed all day. When he came in I ran to meet him, and almost took his breath away with the big hug I gave him.

"It was lonely without you!" I said. "Well, here I am." He kissed me fondly.

After dinner we sat chatting in the cozy library, when I suddenly asked: "What took you away so unexpectedly yesterday, Keith?"

"Margaret telephoned she wanted my advice about some business matter, think he would have reproved me for curiosity and for questioning him had his mind not been occupied with the affairs of the factory."

"How are they all?" It was a duty question this time.

"Fine!" Margaret had a splendid dinner."

"Where you alone?" "Mrs. De Lisle is staying with her while we are away. There were no other guests."

I asked no more questions. Margaret had deliberately planned to have him come home and leave me and while Mrs. De Lisle was her guest, I longed to accuse her to Keith, but I did not dare. But I would be very careful that Margaret had no reason to find fault with me to Keith when we returned home. If she thought she was going to play Mrs. De Lisle against me, my happiness, she was mistaken. That is, I would not let her do it without a struggle.

Of course my thoughts were far-fetched. But I could see only a menace to happiness in this resumption of friendship between Margaret and the widow whom I was now convinced would have been Keith's wife had his sister not interfered.

How strange that Mrs. Brown should have told me of her, and of the way Margaret had broken up anything there had been between her and Keith! And what a strange selfish love for a sister to feel for a brother. Yet in a way Mrs. Brown's narrative had thrown a light upon many of Margaret's actions. This absorbing love for Keith had been evident even when she was a child, and had probably grown and strengthened in the years. Nevertheless it was a disturbing factor in my life, a menace I feared even more now that I knew its power.

Just before we went to bed I asked: "What did you do after dinner last night?"

"We played cut-throat for a while, then Alice played and sang. She is a wonderful musician."

So while I was singing "Annie Laurie" and "The Last Rose of Summer" for the old housekeeper, my husband was being entertained in a like manner by a handsome widow with whom he once had been in love—if he were not now. The thought was maddening.

"You like her very much, don't you?" I asked.

"Who?" I should have known that his mind was not upon how he had spent the time with her, but I thought he was pretending. So I answered crossly:

"Mrs. De Lisle, of course!" "I certainly do like her. But Vera, I do not care to be questioned. I have told you so many times. Please do not forget again."

I wanted desperately to ask him if Margaret really had any business that needed his attention, but after the way he had spoken I didn't dare.

Again I laid awake nearly all night I pictured them at dinner and afterward playing bridge. Then I visioned Mrs. De Lisle, perfectly gowned, and coiffured, sitting at the piano playing and singing to him. It was torture.

"He may still love her," I said to myself. Then, "if he did, why didn't he marry her instead of me?" But I had heard of hearts being caught on the rebound. Perhaps that had been the case with Keith.

The morning sun was peeping in at the window when I finally fell asleep. And it seemed only a moment before I heard Keith say: "Come, lazy bones! If you don't hurry, I shall have to breakfast alone."

Tomorrow—Vacation Plans.
